

Present Perfect Tense

Chapter 8

- The present perfect tense is used for actions that were recently completed.
- The present perfect uses the past participle verbs, but the ending is always -o.
- The present perfect tense is made using haber + past participle.

yo	he	nosotros	hemos
tú	has
él, ella, Us.	ha	ellos, ellas, Uds.	han

2. Translate to Spanish.

I have talked with Marco.

You have closed the window.

He has bought the book.

She has arrived.

We have taken the sodas.

They have eaten the apples.

Y'all have lost the keys.

I have broken the clock.

You have slept on the couch.

She has written the note.

We have lived on that street.
